BIG WELLESLEY SHORTAGE LAID TO FATHER

The shortages were not discovered until January. By Lewis Kennedy Moore, treasurer of Wellesley College, this statement was made today relative to the shortage and the investigation: "According to today's papers, it became known publicly that a shortage of approximately 12,000 had been discovered several weeks ago and had been officially investigated by the business manager, Mr. Kayser, and the college auditor. "When the matter was finally reported to the Board of Trustees at its January meeting, a committee of two trustees, Robert C. Foshee and Harry W. Ogden, both attorneys, were appointed. They placed the matter in the hands of the district attorney, Winfield L. Wilbur. "Any statement that might be issued should, therefore, come from the district attorney's office. "Mr. Ogden said today he did not feel in a position to make any official statement as he had not personally investigated the situation. He admitted the matter had been referred to Assistant District Attorney Runney.

Outside, and also inside, the State House, there were stationed fourteen State troopers with sidearms and forty Providence policemen, in command of Captain Harry F. Brown and four sergeants. But as police headquarters to more policemen were held in reserve, but under the guidance of Union organizer Horace A. Riviere and other leaders, the demonstrators undisturbed themselves in an orderly fashion and the police were not called into service. STAGE AUTO INVASION. Prior to the demonstration a meeting had been held in Pawtucket with President McMahon presiding, and with John H. of Gloucester scored bigly for supporting such a bill. "It looks innocent with its one-year provision, but it would at the mill run 54 hours a week for forty-six weeks and then lay off help without pay for the remainder of the year," he asserted. Representative John Halliwell of New Bedford challenged the Archwright club to show when it ever "entered the State House seeking beneficial legislation for workers." He contended lengthening toll was no remedy for life of the textile industry. "The industry is sinking ground every day and is better off today than in any period within five years," he said. Representative Ezra W. Clark of Brockton, a physician, charged the mills are "unfitting thousands of young women to the State."

NAB HUB MAN IN RUM CHASE

Portland, Me., March 15 (A.P.)—A man who identified himself as George T. Criles of Boston was arrested after a nine-mile chase today on the State highway from Dunsmuir to Legions. Deputy sheriffs fired ten shots in an effort to stop the automobile in which Criles and a companion were speeding towards this city. The second man escaped. In the automobile, the gasoline tank of which was protected by a heavy sheet of metal, the officers alleged they found concealed 24 1/2 boxes of alcohol and 72 quarts of whiskey.

ANTOINETTE FORTIN

Former New Bedford tea room girl, now of Winthrop, was questioned today by Assistant District Attorney McDonnell in the case of Rev. Guy W. Holmes, who is charged in three indictments with serious offenses. Charged in three indictments with serious offenses, the Rev. Guy W. Holmes, assistant pastor of St. Louis the Gate of trial had been set back to April 4. In addition to Assistant District Attorney McDonnell, were Police Inspector Harry Reeves of Boston and Lieutenant Douglas of the Winthrop police. Holmes, who is married, surrendered himself and pleaded not guilty to the indictments last December 30, and was held in a total of $1500 on the three indictments. His surrender came after a church board had ousted him from the Methodist Episcopal Church as a result of the charges preferred against him by the former tea room girl. One of Miss Fortin's statements was to the effect that she had spent a night with the minister in a hotel. The girl, as part of her move against her former declared love, said him for $1500 damages, but she dropped the suit for the Boston County Grand Jury began an investigation that resulted in the indictments.

4-SPEED FORD REPORTED AS NEXT MODEL

Four speeds forward—those will be included in the new type Ford model expected to be in production by the opening of summer, according to a report in automobile circles today. As reported at last from the famed model, the Ford Motor Co. will, it is claimed, put out a new four-cylinder car, with sliding gear transmission and other features unique to the driver. With the four speeds, the new Ford, naturally, will be much faster than the Fords of today. It is said the wheel base will be lengthened to 101 inches. As understood now, the touring car price will be under $500, and a great advance over present touring car prices. C. Harold White has been retained in a consulting capacity for the new model.

Increased so rapidly that he declared he would seek suspension of the boys involved in the egg and fruit throwing. The barrage was laid down during initiation ceremonies of the fraternity, which is a high school fraternity, but declared not to be of the high school. According to Mayor Whelan, however, all the boys took part in the egg and fruit throwing have been established as Chelsea High School boys. Each and every one of them will get busy on the ladders with the soap and water and give the Washington avenue side of City Hall a beating as it has never known before, even on a Saturday night. The mayor said he went into a rage when he reached City Hall today in a painful, nonchalance manner and discovered that it was the heathered side of the hall that was giving off the odors. He got into communication with Principal Francis and put in a complaint. Principal Francis climbed up, according to the mayor, and found that all the boys participating in the initiation, with permission of the mayor, were Chelsea High school boys. Then the mayor gave the boys not one hour to reach City Hall and begin cleanup work.

A smoldering Edison light bulb in the cellar of the residence of Arthur D. Hill, former corporation counsel, at No. 17 Brimmer street, Beacon Hill, caused some excitement today, but failed to cause the attorney to cancel a trip to Ireland, on which he had left in the afternoon. Faced with this problem, Marshal Kevelin conferred with Judge M. Morton and U. S. Attorney Tarr and announced he would personally guarantee Federal employees their salaries during the emergency. It is expected the government will make arrangements for obtaining the funds for some emergency source until the next Congress meets and remedies the situation.

He claimed the firm had violated its grounds for which must be approved by the public works commission, fire commissioner and city council.

"SHE TALKED ABOUT ME," SAYS WIFE
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith of Revere. Young Mrs. Smith, bride of a year, has sued her mother-in-law in Suffolk court for $10,000 for alienation of her husband's love. She charges his mother talked about her.

LAYS HER LOVE ILLS TO MA

Conversations about herself that she overheard in her mother-in-law's house, form an important part of allegations in a suit for $10,000 brought by Mrs. Esther Smith of Revere against her mother-in-law, Mrs. Anna Smith, who started telling her husband all sorts of things about her.

"Everything was all right until we went to live at his mother's house," said the young wife. "We had been living in a cozy home of our own, which I helped furnish out of my savings, but when we went to her house, at her invitation, she started telling my husband all sorts of things about me."

The husband is a tailor and musician. Mrs. Smith is now living with relatives in Thornton street, Revere, while he lives with his parents in Kimball street.

RICH 'GUN-GIRL' AMONG POOR IN MIND TESTS

Elise M. Morrill, "gun-toting" heiress of Belmont, today settled into the routine at the Psychopathic Hospital, where for ten days, of her volition, she will undergo a rigid test to determine her sanity.

While she was undergoing the first of an exhaustive series of mental and physical tests today, Judge Wallace R. Heady in Springfield postponed her trial on the charge of carrying a loaded revolver.

At the Psychopathic Hospital, Assistant Superintendent Harry A. Schneider declared she is an admirable patient.

She will undergo frequent physical examinations," said Dr. Schneider, "our doctors pay particular attention to the heart, lungs, eyes and reflexes. Then she will be put to many mental tests. In ten days we will know for a certainty what the status of Miss Morrill's mentality is."

She was accompanied to the hospital by her attorney, Charles M. Rogers. Miss Morrill, at her own request, was assigned a public ward. There she will mingle with patients who are too poor to pay for their hospital treatment, as well as with those who are like herself—plentifully supplied with funds.

Her mother, Mrs. Anna Parsons of Rattlesburg, did not know of her daughter's intention of undergoing the mental test until after the girl was in the hospital.

Mrs. Anderson is one of the group brought North by Mrs. Henry Ford to participate in the exhibition.

LED 'DEVIL DOGS' IN WAR

MAJ. GEN. JOHN A. LEJEUNE

Commandant of the United States Marine Corps and leader of Second Division in France arrived here today for reunion of the overseas unit at the City Club. He is being interviewed by James Smith, Boston Evening American reporter.

MARINES RIGHT ON JOB, SAYS LEJEUNE

Major-General John A. Lejeune, commandant of the United States Marine Corps and head of the Second Division, which he led with distinction on the battlefields of France, arrived in Boston today to participate in the annual reunion of the famous fighting unit to be held tonight at the City Club.

General Lejeune, accompanied by his aide, Captain C. J. Brooks, was received at the South Station by Lieut. Colonel Harry O. Smith, commanding officer of the Boston Marine Corps Barracks, Major Joseph B. Murray, Captain Arthur E. Lyng, Lieut. Eric Oerholm and Lieut. Joseph J. Burdick.

He inspected the Marine detachment at the Charlestown Navy Yard and later visited Rear Admiral Andrews who is confined to his quarters suffering with a cold.

Before leaving for an inspection of the Hingham barracks, General Lejeune declared that he would not discuss the Nicaraguan or Chinese situations during his visit here. He dismissed both subjects with the smiling statement that "the marines are in there and the situation will be taken care of satisfactorily."

ABLY COMMANDED.
"These are international affairs," he said, "and I shall refrain from making any comment upon them. The marine detachments in China and Nicaragua are ably commanded and they will perform their duties creditably."

"I am looking forward with great pleasure to the reunion this evening of my former comrades-in-arms. It is the first Second Division affair I have been able to attend since the war and I expect to greet many friends."

"I shall discuss the proposed history of the marine corps in France, which is now being compiled and also the plans for the national marine memorial in Washington."

The Merchant of Venice

"The quality of mercy is not strained: It beseecheth him that gives and him that takes."

"O woe and upright judge, how much more elder art thou than thy looks."

Portia, coming disguised as an "eminent counselor" to defend Antonio, began by pleading with Shylock to be merciful. Bassanio offered to pay twice the sum borrowed, but Shylock still demanded his pound of flesh.

Portia agreed that Shylock was entitled to his pound of flesh, and bade Antonio prepare his room for the knife. Shylock, believing he had won, joyfully called the supposed counselor "a Daniel come to judgment."

Shakespeare's Immortal Drama

"Bled thus no blood, we cut thus less nor more, But just one pound of flesh."

But Shylock was astonished and charmed when Portia reminded him that the bond called for one pound of Antonio's flesh, but not one drop of blood. Thus Portia won her case, and baffled the cruel Shylock by a technicality.

"Blessed therefore, and beg mercy of the Duke, Beg leave thou mayest have leave to hang thyself."

Not only was Shylock's bloody purpose foiled, but under the laws of Venice he was guilty of conspiracy against the life of a citizen. Half of his property was confiscated to the State, the other half was given to Antonio.

To give these delinquents a final chance to take advantage of the gift extension of the time limit which expired December 1, 1924, was urged. There was no opposition.

Smith Girls on Wheels; Law May Get 'Em

Northampton, March 18 (A.P.)—Smith College has taken a roller skate. Young women sporting the latest in Spring are rushing about the paved campus roads, through the city streets and over the sidewalks both on and off the campus.

The demand for roller skates at the college is so great that the sporting goods stores during the last few days have been so busy that the supply has been exhausted temporarily.

Traffic officers saw the students a while and scratched their heads trying to decide whether the city ordinance prohibited roller skating on the sidewalks. It was pointed out to a City Hall that a recent ordinance, relating a vehicle as "everything on wheels or runners," says that "no vehicle shall be allowed to land or be driven on any sidewalk except when crossing same."

Another problem appeared when it was noted that if the girls are barred from the sidewalks and go into the streets, they will be subject to vehicle regulations and will have to have a white light showing toward the front and a red one toward the rear.

Whether this rule will be enforced, Chief of Police Brennan was not ready to say.

Smart Set Much Interested in Charity Puppet Show to Be Given in Jordan Hall a Week From Monday

SMART PATRONAGE FOR THE PUPPET SHOW ON ITS first Boston appearance, March 28, includes notables of the ultra set such as Mrs. Anne Hollingsworth, Mrs. John C. Gray, Mrs. Harvey H. Bundy, Mrs. David Cheever, Mrs. Ralph Bradley, Mrs. Walter C. Baylis and Mrs. Charles Greeley Long. A puppet show followed by a puppet vaudeville is the program, to be given both in the morning and afternoon, at Jordan Hall. A philanthropist of the town (less well known than many others, but extremely deserving) benefits. It is the Home and School Visitors' Association. Tickets may be had of Mrs. F. Delano Putnam of Brimmer street.

A RED CHALK PORTRAIT BY MISS ZOE SHIPPEN OF YOUNG Mr. William Farnham recently shown by this gifted young artist is creating quite a furore. It's the sort of decorative work one would expect from a girl who is herself a most decorative member of her set. Miss Shippen is preparing for a "one-man show" next Autumn and her friends look for great things at that time. She is the daughter of the Rev. Eugene Shippen and Mrs. Shippen, and though counting her years hardly more than a score, has had a student experience interestingly broad on two continents.

OF COURSE SHE SOUGHT A FINISHED TECHNIC IN PAINT What aspirant with the brush and palette does not invade the famous old "Left Bank" during student days? There was, also, a Summer at the School at Fontainebleau. But pleasantest of all, perhaps, are the Summers on this side of the water when the Shippens are domiciled at a lovely old place, "The Casements," their Summer home at the North Shore. And Miss Shippen's studio is one of the many thereabouts the painter fraternity has scattered over the North Shore.

IT'S SUFFICIENTLY NEAR THE ROCKPORT AND GLOUCESTER art colonies to identify Miss Shippen with those exhibitions. The house itself is a fine example of true New England simplicity, a quaint old place comfortably modernized and notable for some lovely glass set into its many "casement" windows. Hence its name. It is a house exquisitely restored by adoring hands, thus losing no single jot of its old time attractiveness. The Shippens will be going down in late May or early June.

ANOTHER OF THE TOWN'S A bright young man is going in for a diplomatic career. I understand that this fascinating field of endeavor for cultured college youth with the right background is the goal of Vinton Chapin, Harvard 1925, and member of that very desirable organization, the Tennis and Racquet Club. Just now Mr. Chapin is on a hurried trip abroad, the second within a short time, and on his return there'll be credentials awaiting him for his first post. Here in town Mr. Chapin keeps bachelor hall, in a pleasant Hotel Sheraton apartment.

THAT DISCIPLE OF THE classical in music, M. Serge Koussevitzky, of the Symphony, will have at the Senior Supper Dance this evening a magnificent opportunity to hear some fine up-to-the-minute compositions as rendered by a well-known New York orchestra. Another special guest, in Miss Margaret who comes with Miss Miss Burnham's party.

E. GRANT TAPP, OF NEW York, is in the party Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Morgan have at the last Supper Dance. Mrs. John Goodwin of Cincinnati is a guest in the large group Charles Belknap is entertaining. Mrs. Ernesta Bullitt of New York is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Putnam, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Devens are bringing Mr. and Mrs. Charles David Osborn of Auburn, New York.

Mrs. Thayer will be accompanied by Miss Nellie Joan Olsen of Northampton, who is making a trip to her home in Copenhagen.

SEPPALA IN HUB ON HIS WAY TO FAR NORTH Leonhard Seppala, famous Alaskan musher who has been one of the outstanding figures in Winter sports in the East this Winter, arrived in Boston today enroute to his home in the far North. With his nine prize huskies carefully crated and his Eskimo retainer and companion in constant attendance on the dogs, Seppala arrived at North Station on the Pullman Train, coming here from Danville. Tickets were purchased in Seattle and the party will speed west today.

BOSTON JEWELRY MAN'S LOOTED TRUNK IS FOUND

Nashua, N. H., March 18 (A.P.)—The Boston jewelry salesman's trunk, stolen from a Manchester hotel Monday evening with about $10,000 worth of jewelry, was found today in the woods near the Hotel, N. H. line. The trunk had been opened, and all but forty or fifty small pieces removed. Several hundred dollars' worth of jewelry had previously been recovered near Popponesset.

B. & M. REVENUE INCREASE

"Faster and better passenger train service is bringing back some of the lost revenue," the Boston & Maine Railroad ninety-third annual report, made public today, declares. The report, signed by Homer J. Fox, chairman of the board of directors, reveals that the railroad realized a net income increase of $1,092,464 in the year ending December 31, 1926, and states that the first dividend in years was paid to holders of first preferred stock.

Passenger revenues increased for the third year in several years, the report states. The railroad decided to contract to the two previous years when, in 1924, passenger revenues fell off $1,000,000 and in 1925 fell off $1,500,000.

Decline checked. "Evidently the decline has been checked," the report comments. "It has been a matter of satisfaction to find the extent to which the public has responded to improved freight and passenger service, to the improvement in general facilities and establishment of service like the 'Minute Man'."

"Recognition of the need for adapting railroad operations to the changed conditions of modern transportation has brought a substantial measure of public support. Freight from western connections, according to the report, increased nearly 10 per cent. The direct result of the general reduction by member offices in Chicago, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Kansas City, Memphis, Cleveland, Seattle, San Francisco, Philadelphia, New York, Buffalo and Detroit."

Rail competition. Commenting on the auto bus situation, the report says:

"This competition is somewhat less than a year ago. The regulatory commissions of the New England states have shown an inclination to protect the railways in business rightfully theirs. The motor bus is rapidly finding a field as auxiliary to railway passenger service."

"The Boston & Maine Transportation Co. made gross earnings of $1,000,000 from bus and truck operations."

Additional settlements to the Boston & Maine facilities during the year aggregated $5,344,000, the report states.

Portuguese Editor Exiled. Lisbon, Portugal, March 18 (A.P.)—Dr. Fernando Passos, director of the newspaper Correio da Manhã, has been expelled from the country.

He was expelled for issuing a circular to municipalities in terms which the government considered offensive to the present regime.

Returns Loot

A bill aimed at "one-hand" driving and "three in the front seat" was referred to a third reading in the House today.

In opposition to the bill, Representative John M. Fox pointed out that it would prevent a man from operating with his wife and baby on the same seat.

These persons, even if adults, he contended, are not necessarily a danger to operation.

KILL 'ONE HAND' DRIVING BILL

The telephone calls began at 5 p. m. and went into the morning hours. The police sought vainly through the telephone company, to trace the source of the calls.

"What do you know?" asked the operator the first time. "Don't call Nantux River run or walk, and if you do, before the police find out."

Below the puzzled police listen.

HE'LL LEARN WHAT POLICE KNOW IF THEY GET HIM!

Providence, March 18—A 1927 car could reply, the voice charged, loudly person, who insisted on intruding last, James F. Roy and his fellow passengers into a private "What do you know?" contest, kept police headquarters telephones busy all night. If he really wants to know something, he can learn today how much a night can be.

Here are some of the best questions, a bit harder than Sam Carlin's.

"How far does the rain fall?" "Is Mabel there?" "Is the patrol wagon made of rope?"

"Do all clocks have a good time?"

EX-HUB DRY AGENT GETS RETRIAL ON GRAFT CHARGE

J. Harvey Eaton, former Boston prohibition and Federal agent, convicted in New Haven last May of stealing money from Jacob Levy, Westport beer runner, was today granted a new trial. Judge Harlan B. Howe in U. S. District Court in New Haven took the matter against Eaton, who was not in attendance at the evidence.

J. Weston Allen, former attorney-general for Massachusetts, testified for Eaton. It was alleged Eaton, posing as a Federal officer, collected graft from Levy. Eaton has been out on bail.

One Side of the Story

The telephone bell rings.
Mrs. Brown answers promptly.

"Oh yes, Mr. Smith."

"Goodness, gracious! I haven't yet begun to think about the Sunday dinner."

(Reflectively) "Yes, I suppose that's so. Well, let me think! What favors have you?"

"M-m-m-m" (meaning rapid mental tasting of the favors recited, and mental estimate of how many may be expected for Sunday dinner.)
"Well, I guess if you send me a quart of the frozen pudding and a quart of that special you mentioned, it will be enough. I expect the children will invite some friends for the week-end."

"Good-bye. Thank you for calling."

Mrs. Brown, sotto voce: Mr. Smith is certainly entertaining in calling me on Friday to get an ice cream order for Sunday dinner. Well, it probably saves his time and mine, too, for unless he had called I would have had to call him or else walk down town Saturday evening when he was busy with customers.

CALL GENERAL STRIKE IN SHANGHAI

Shanghai, China, March 11 (A.P.)—The General Labor Union today issued a communique calling a general strike to begin tomorrow at noon and continue until the Nationalist (Chinese) occupy Shanghai. This communique called on the workers to maintain order and avoid becoming involved in any mob action, and notified the public that the strike is purely of a political nature and intended to show sympathy with the Nationalist cause in the fight against the northerners.

Disarmament of Shanghai's northern troops have been ordered along the Shanghai-Nanking railway to attempt to prevent the workers from leaving.

Both Nanking and Shanghai are seriously threatened by the Cantonese army's large-scale offensive against the Northerners to the north of the city.

The violence of the threat, together with defections from the Northern ranks, indicate the early fall of Nanking and possible isolation of Chang Tsung-chang's Northern forces in Shanghai, in which event the new international port would become an easy prize for the Southerners.

Business is being suspended in the districts of Chungchow, Wusih and Soochow, all on the Yangtze between Shanghai and Nanking. The latest successes of the Cantonese include the capture of Wukiang, a river station south of Soochow, and Lianhai, southeast of Nanking.

The American missionaries in Nanking have begun preparations to carry out the suggestions of the American consul, John K. Davis for early withdrawal of the aged and infirm as well as women and children from Nanking to Shanghai. The fall of Shanghai is daily expected. It is recognized as significant that the Shanghai forces are not offering serious resistance to the southern army.

Terrorism is increasing here. An other murder occurred today. No arrests were made.

The latest successes of the southern army in closing in on Nanking include the capture of Wukiang, twelve miles from Soochow, and Lianhai, southeast of Nanking.

Small groups have been arriving here for the last week, and the total number of refugees is expected to reach 100,000. That general evacuation of the foreigners from Nanking has not yet been ordered.

N. E. COUNCIL TO HEAR POWER
PROJECT TALK

By FRED TOYE

New England's great power facilities are the subject of a highly technical series of talks to be given by the New England Council on Friday, March 25, at the new Statler Hotel.

At the session on the Electric Illuminating Company of Boston will be the subject of the power companies and will show a large map giving in detail the power transmission systems and the systems of the six New England states.

Other eagerly awaited reports will be made by Colonel Frank Knox, chairman of the committee on public relations and vested director of the Hays papers in New England, by A. Lincoln Pierce, chairman of the industrial research committee, and by Harry S. Lewis of Lawrenceville, R. L. chairman of the agricultural committee.

Morning and afternoon sessions will be devoted to the reports and discussions of the work accomplished since the last quarterly meeting. Delegates are to learn, among other things, of the increasing trend toward industrial surveys in New England municipalities. Providence has placed its survey in the hands of the new department of industrial survey of Technology, Brown University.

In view of the fact that Hiram Hickey's committee on conventional resources will have a special meeting March 21, it is unlikely that the committee will present its problems for discussion at the quarterly meeting.

A Lincoln Pierce's report will outline the research facilities that are available to New England manufacturers and merchants throughout the country.

There will be a compilation of the findings of the committee and in all well-known fact-light colors, also the valuable reports made some months ago on shoes, textiles and knit goods.

The agricultural committee will report on the progress of legislative bills looking to the standardization and grading of farm and dairy products.

Some farm products conferences conducted at the State House here several months ago, great progress has been made in preparing uniform legislation for the six states with a view of improving the quality and value of New England fruit, garden truck, eggs and poultry.

Charles S. Lawrence, chairman of the New England Council, will preside. A new feature will be the introduction of reports by separate committees on the progress of the work in the Georgian room of the hotel.

DELAY EXODUS TO FLORIDA

Breeding March 18 (A.P.)—The trouble down attitude taken by the Joint Shoe Council, concerning the effort of some Florida concern to get shoe workers to leave for work in the South has caused postponement of the original plan to send the first group of workers South today.

Michael J. Whalen, employment agent who is recruiting the workers, said this morning it will be a week or ten days before he will be able to send the first batch.

Whalen had a crowd at his agency this morning and a number of them appeared to be interested in making the trip. He insists he has signed up enough cutters to fill out his quota and today is endeavoring to sign up stitchers, vampers, laters and other skilled help. The number of these men, he says, have paid their $1 deposit on a lot of land.

Whalen insists there is work for all who want to go. He refuses to

Ford's Rubber Vines All Dead; Edison's Growing Right Up

Fort Myers, Fla., March 18 (A.P.)—Thomas A. Edison's rubber plants at his Winter home are too impatient for results, the inventor declared.

Frustrated for days on his experiments, Mr. Edison abandoned his test trees for a pencil stub and scribbled:

"Rubber trees and vines do not seem to grow fast enough for newspaper men. Plant the seeds today and they will reach tomorrow. I went to Labels to examine the rubber vines on Mr. Ford's place and found them all dead. They were not the right kind."

He then where the factory is and claims it is a new concern with a large factory to make a cheap grade of shoes.

Officials of the Miami Realty board and the Miami Chamber of Commerce said yesterday Miami had no facilities for offering employment to shoe factory workers.

ATTACK BAUER AS MUSSOLINI OF LYNN

Mayor Ralph S. Bauer of Lynn was denounced as a "Mussolini" during a debate on his bill to create a Lynn public works commission with a salary of $10,000 a year.

The bill was ordered to a third reading by a standing vote, 63 to 50. In opposing the debate, Representative Tony A. Garofano of Saugus charged the mayor intends to go outside the city to appoint some friends of his to the office. The mayor's claim he could save $40,000 to $50,000 a year was derided by the speaker.

Representative Charles W. Ames of Lynn declared the mayor was seeking to substitute the new commission for the present commission on ways and drainage, is hoping to "keep a string on the city government after he goes out of office next December."

"Once such an aim as that contained in the bill is started," Representative C. F. Nelson Pratt of Saugus protested, "other municipal mayors will try it. The politician has his eye on a price that of least benefit to the city. It would set up a dictatorship. The people of the district are against it. Lynn wants no Mussolini."

FAVOR NEW ASSISTANT TO PROBATE REGISTRAR

Register of Probate Arthur W. Sullivan of Suffolk County will be allowed a third assistant if a bill favorably reported in the House today, by the Ways and Means Committee, is enacted into law.

Other favorable reports made by the same committee were on bills to empower the commissioner of agriculture to establish and promulgate official grades and standards for farm produce, for State highways of snow on highways formerly done by the cities and towns, assessing part of the expense according to population, and a measure for an investigation of the smoke, soot and cinder nuisance. The measure carries an appropriation of $5,000.

A gas jet in the room was open. The aged man was ill and dependent according to fellow employees. Homeless reporting for work was discovered the body.

Police began an investigation to determine if Stuart has any relatives in the city. Even his address was not known at the stable where he worked.

Mellie and "Gram" Are Paid Honors in Maine Legislature

Augusta, Me., March 18 (A.P.).—Mellie Dunham, old-time fighter of Norway, Me., and his wife, who became famous a year ago when they visited Henry Ford at Detroit, were given unusual honors by the Legislature today.

A committee of ten representatives escorted them into the House, "Gram" Dunham entered on the arm of Representative Glen R. McTear of Norway, and Mellie with Representative Stanley M. Wheeler of South Paris. They were led to the speaker's stand, the members all applauding.

On motion of Representative William Heston of Portland, they were given three cheers. Later they visited the Senate.

The injured are Maria Bennett, 14, of Malden street, Malden; Fred of Malden, and his brother, and Horace McKinley of Phillips street, Norwood, were also injured.

All were taken to Norwood Hospital, where 15 attendants were taken in McKinley's head. McKinley was driver of the truck, while Bennett was operating the other car, a sedan, in which Prince was a passenger.

HOTELS IN FIGHT ON AUTO RISK PROPAGANDA

Hotel men of Massachusetts today joined with Frank A. Goodwin, registrar of motor vehicles, in protesting vigorously against statements sent out by the American Automobile Association.

Measures will be taken immediately to offset erroneous statements according to announcement by the Massachusetts Hotel Association through its president, Emma F. Condon.

The A. A. A. is alleged to have broadcast information that out-of-State tourists in Massachusetts would be compelled to take out compulsory insurance. The impression was given, it is said, that drivers having insurance in their own States would still have to get additional policies.

The law provides that visiting motorists require no insurance for the first thirty days. After that they still require none if they have liability policies. If they have no insurance they must, after one month here, take out a quarter-year's insurance.

The A. A. A. is evidently spreading its propaganda for the purpose of reducing tourist travel in New England, said President Condon.

LIBERAL CREDIT TERMS

In view of the alarm now expressed in many anti-league circles that the United States is going deeper in the preliminary conference on limitation of armaments and the League's economic conference.

Probably the most important tangential of the United States with the League of Nations is a series of exchanges that government has agreed to subject to agreement made with any other country to the League of Nations for publication and distribution.

Very little is known of the anti-league conference now being held in London. It is designed to be of far-reaching importance in world conferences.

'L' PROFITS BY LESS COST FOR SNOW WORK

Greater Boston's seasonal snowfall may mean less defoliating but more damage to trees, according to a report from the Greater Boston Council on Management of the Environment. The report says that heavy snowfall can cause trees to break or fall, especially if the snow is wet and heavy. It also says that snow can cause trees to lose their leaves, which can be a problem for trees that are already stressed or diseased.

Monica's eyes were wild and she danced up and down to the "Sis Hopkins" costume she wore.

CHAPTER XXII
WEALTH and prosperity seemed to have descended upon Monica like a shower of gold. From head to toe she spoke of money—and she spoke of it loudly!

To begin with, there was a brand-new black satin turban on her small head. None of your quiet little turbans, but a gleaming lustrous one with a great rhinestone arrow stuck through its folds.

Then she had a black seal coat, trimmed with monkey fur wrapped around her slender body. Below it her slender slim legs were sheathed with the thinnest of thin chiffon stockings, and upon her satin slippers were what must have been the largest pair of rhinestone buckles ever made.

There were four or five rows of pearl choker beads around her neck. There were more of them on one of her wrists. And upon her breast were pinned five white velvet gardenias—the kind that cost three dollars apiece in specialty shops. Monica never did things by halves.

There were white knit gloves on Monica's hands, and from one wrist came a black-and-white beaded bag. She was a black and white—all but her face in its startling blue eyes, its tan and coral skin and its hair that were painted a bright shade of scarlet.

But for all her black-and-whiteness, and in spite of all the money she had spent upon herself, Monica did not look like a lady even now. She looked just what she was—rich, common, keen, impatient, and gay. What people used to call a "ratty-stepper" back in the early days of American slang.

She laughed a little, showing her sharp little white teeth, as she saw Bibbie's eyes run over her grandeur. Then she turned slowly on one heel like a clothes model.

"Well, do I look like a boulevard whoop or don't I?" she asked loudly and cheerfully.

"You sure do," Bibbie assured her, "but where did you get all the money?" She knew that Monica had been stony broke two weeks before.

"Money?" asked Monica innocently. "Who said anything about money? I haven't any money, honey. A job is what I have. A darned good job—and a job means credit."

"Did you charge all this stuff?" asked Bibbie, looking in Monica's clothes and all the coral-colored beaded under the bed, with a stare of her eyes.

"No arm," Monica nodded. "Nothing else but," she answered calmly. "You Please turn to Page 23, Column 1."

DAILY SHORT STORY

EVENING at the hotel at the corner of 30th Street felt like a little bit of heaven. The night train from New York had just arrived, and the hotel manager, Mr. A. C. Smith, was standing in the doorway, smiling and waving his hand. He was a man of about 40, with a friendly, open face, and a voice that was warm and reassuring. He was wearing a dark suit and a white shirt with a dark tie. He was looking at me with a smile, and I felt that I was in a good place. I was standing in the doorway, looking out at the city lights. The city was so beautiful, and I felt that I was in a good place. I was standing in the doorway, looking out at the city lights. The city was so beautiful, and I felt that I was in a good place.

new man and Lucile Meriton met at the head of the hill. Every one was talking and laughing cheerfully.

"A-Lamar followed the head water to a little table for two," said Alice. "He sat down there, and there, smiling gently, holding out his hand, he said, 'Welcome, my dear!' " he asked her; "we are not married yet, but I have found my love for you for ever and been and a lot." The strong, smiling face of the man, with every line in his face in a month. They were married.

"A-Lamar pushed back the silver for the first time, and he said, 'I am as if the room had suddenly become warm. Lucile, engaged to me.'"

"Alice told me about it when she first came to the city. She said she leave on the four fifteen, that if it were not for the fact that she had to follow you around and keep telling me you that I love you until you get tired of me."

"The waiter coughed discreetly, and Alice said, 'I am sorry to hear that.' She asked Tom McCrea, suddenly her eyes were turned to him, and he said, 'Alice Lamar never left anyone confused.'"

"'Ambrosia,' she answered quickly, with a faint smile around her eyes."

"But the waiter brought salmon, and Alice said, 'I am very sorry as a matter of fact, but I am not a member of the order, for really food is so little important when we are in love.'"
